

Join Us for Edinburgh's Workers Memorial Day

Tuesday, 28 April 2009

At the Workers Memorial Day Tree, Princes Street Gardens

(nearest entrance, west side of Mound, go down to the lowest path)

12 noon—1pm

A short gathering to remember those who have died at work and refresh our resolve to fight for safe and healthy working conditions for working people throughout the world

Speakers:

Lord Provost of Edinburgh, George Grubb

Professor Andrew Watterson, Occupational and Environmental Health and Safety Research Group, Stirling University, will speak about the 2004 ICL/Stockline Explosion where 9 people died, and the recently completed Public Inquiry into that disaster.

There will be an opportunity for anyone to lay a wreath and say a few words on behalf of themselves, their family or their union branch / organisation

Music from Protest in Harmony
